

Chapter 2 The Author and the Index

American Society of Indexers, 26, 29

appendixes, 20

ASI (American Society of Indexers), 26, 29

“ASI Recommended Indexing Agreement,” 29

AusSI (Australian Society of Indexers ), 26

Australian Society of Indexers, 26

author-prepared indexes 16, 22

authors

as indexers, 21-24

highlights by, 17, 32-33

communicating with indexer, 27

involvement with index, 27

over-involvement with index, 23-24, 32

responsibility for index, 27

review of index, 28, 34

bidding formats

flat fee, 30

per-entry, 30

per-hour, 29

per-page, 29

book contracts, 16

book-indexing techniques, 23 I’m not sure exactly what part of the page this refers to, but in a sense the whole book is about indexing techniques. I think it might be too broad to use for this book.

book production schedule is a useful entry

Chicago Manual of Style, 17, 21-22

collaboration between author and indexer, 31-34

“Contracted Indexes” (Indexer), 16

contracts, for indexing, 28-30

contractual indexing services, 18

controlled vocabulary, 19-20

copyright, 29

“Copyright for Indexes, Revisited” (Mulvany), 29

costs of indexing. 16-18

cross-references

See also references, 17

See references, 17

desktop publishing, 31

editors

This is nice.

- highlights by, 32
- final review by, 34
- indexer referrals from, 17, 26
- interim review by, 33
- involvement with index, 27
- style sheets, 31
- expository writing, 23 this passage doesn't really tell you anything about expository writing; it just says that indexing is different from it. I'm not sure that's enough to justify an entry.
- final review, of indexes, 34
- footnotes, 20
- freelance indexing services, 26
- geographic names, 19
- IASC (Indexing and Abstracting Society of Canada), 26
- indexable terms, 26 good
- Indexer*, 16
- indexers
  - collaboration with authors, 31-24 21 not 31?      need to indent this subentry
    - experienced, 17
    - locating one, 26 don't really need that word
    - handicaps of, 25
    - needs of, 30-31
    - professional strengths, 24
    - subject-area expertise, 25
- Indexers Available* (Australian Society of Indexers), 26
- Indexers Available* (Society of Indexers), 27
- indexes
  - specifications for, 17, 31
  - who pays, 16-18, 28
  - who prepares, 21-26
- Indexing and Abstracting Society of Canada, 26
- indexing
  - mechanics of, 22
  - rates for, 29-30
  - schedules, 34
  - specialized subject matter, 25
- index-writing process, 22-23
- interim review, of indexes, 33
- legal indexes      --would probably be useful to collocate information in this chapter with information later in the book
- "Legal Vocabulary and the Indexer \(Moys\)," 25
- Levin, Bernard, 27
- Literary Market Place*, 26
- LMP (Literary Market Place), 26
- main entries, 17
- medical indexes

Moys, Elizabeth, 25
Mulvany, Nancy C., 29 names, of organizations, 19 you don't really need the comma after names in these three entries; "names of organizations" is straightforward. usually commas are used for inverted word order. names, of people, 18 names, of places, 19
pagination, 31
proofs, final page, 17, 30
publishers concept of indexing process, 22 contract with indexer, 28
    index as reflection of, 26 receiving index on schedule, 24 responsibilities of, 30
    sharing indexing costs, 16
Register of Indexers (American Society of Indexers), 26
Register of Indexers Available (Indexing and Abstracting Society of Canada), 26 review process, of indexes, 27
    final review, of indexes, 34
    interim review, of indexes 33
rights, assignment of, 29
SI (Society of Indexers), 19, 27
Society of Authors, 16
Society of Indexers, 19, 27
students as indexers, 23, 26 style guides, 17, 31
subentries, 17
synonymous terms, 19-20
U.S. Copyright Act of 1976, 29
Vickers, John A., 21
Wellisch, Hans, 21, 23
Wheatley Medal, 21
"work made for hire," 29
Writers' Guild, 16
writing process, the 18

This is very good!